WELSBACH MANTLES

Style of mounting distinctively Welsbach. Ring-top Cap. Asbestos tied, nickel-wire support, sheathed with a refractory magnesia tube. The maximum durability of this type of Welsbach Mantles is due to several features peculiar to Welsbach Mantles alone,—mantle is rigidly suspended over the cap, thus preventing fraying or breaking at the skirt from vibration, the strain being taken up at the head of the mantle, which is hardened with a specially prepared chemical solution. A refractory tube is used to prevent bending of the supporting wire.

These lights are well made and finished. They bear the Welsbach brand.

WELSBACH CEILING UNITS

No. 56 Ceiling Unit, shown with "Reflex" light and distance control.

No. 56

Without Ventilated Crown

For any standard size inverted gas lamp. Diameter, 12 inches; depth to bottom of nipple, 8½ inches. Finish: White enamel.

PRICES:

Not including burner, glassware, mantle, or distance control appliance.

No. 56, with ⅛-in. nipple ^{11/17} Each ~~2.75~~ 2.55 ✓

The Welsbach Ceiling Unit permits the placing of lights at a higher point than was heretofore practicable in cases where ceilings are very low.

Made of white enamel, the fixtures are practically indestructible. The finish will neither tarnish nor discolor. An occasional wiping with a damp cloth is all that is required to keep it clean and bright.

No. 58 with ventilated crown should be used only with air ducts running along or concealed in ceiling. The lamps, when lighted, cause an upward current, drawing out of the room, through ducts, the impure air, which is replaced with fresh air from the outside.

Distance control is recommended when installed in rooms with high ceilings, but if not desired, lamps may be equipped in the usual way with chain-pull by-pass.

Nos. 64 and 66 Spacing Bands

Permit placing Nos. 56 and 58 Ceiling Units over exposed ⅜-inch piping.

No. 64 has one slot, as shown; No. 66 has two slots opposite to each other. Finish: White enamel.

An Epoch-Making Triumph in Gas Lighting

The "C. E-Z" Light is the result of the kinetic principle in burner construction as developed by the Welsbach Company. The kinetic principle has made possible this gas lamp possessing heretofore unobtainable advantages of the most vital importance to present day lighting.

Efficiently develops a large amount of light without the use of stack, chimney or cylinder.

Fits directly into an upright gas shade, and thus preserves the symmetry and enhances the beauty of either old or new fixtures.

Has the unique and important advantage of being usable with either the glassware in present use or with specially designed shades which produce a semi-indirect effect, so easy on the eyes.

Uses a remarkable closed-top mantle of the soft or "rag" form, not subject to damage before lighting, and being small and of artificial silk, maximum resistance to shock and wear is assured.

It is about the size of an average thimble when burned ready for use.

Requires by far the least attention of any incandescent gas light heretofore developed.

No. 709 "C. E-Z" Candle Light with No. 700 globe and No. 729 globe ring.

No. 790 "C. E-Z" Light with No. 757 shade.

No. 740 "C. E-Z" Light used to displace an open flame burner inside a standard gas globe.

No. 790 "C. E-Z" Light with No. 767 shade.

No. 709 "C. E-Z" Candle Light with No. 807 globe and No. 729 globe ring.
